Copyright Policy

Effective Date: 01 January, 2025

This copyright policy (the “Policy”) explains how JDI Central (the “JDI Central”) respects and protects the intellectual property rights of others, and how you can report any infringement of your rights when you use the JDI Central and its related websites and applications (the “Services”). By using the Services, you agree to abide by this Policy.

1. Respect for intellectual property rights

JDI Central respects the intellectual property rights of others, and expects its users to do the same. The Platform does not claim ownership of any content, materials, or works that you or other users upload, post, or share on or through the Services (the “User Content”). You are solely responsible for ensuring that you have the necessary rights and permissions to use and share your User Content on or through the Services, and that your User Content does not infringe or violate the rights of any third party, including but not limited to copyright, trademark, patent, trade secret, privacy, or publicity rights.

JDI Central does not monitor, review, or endorse any User Content, and disclaims any liability for any User Content that may be unlawful, infringing, offensive, or otherwise objectionable. However, the Platform reserves the right to remove or disable access to any User Content that it believes in good faith to be in violation of this Policy, its terms and conditions, or any applicable laws or regulations, without prior notice or liability to you.

2. Reporting infringement

If you believe that your intellectual property rights have been infringed by any User Content on or through the Services, you can report it to us by sending a notice of infringement to our designated agent at contact@jdicentral.com. Your notice of infringement must include the following information

2.1. Your name, address, email address, and phone number.

2.2. A description of the copyrighted work or other intellectual property that you claim has been infringed.

2.3. A description of where the allegedly infringing User Content is located on or through the Services, with sufficient detail to enable us to locate it.

2.4. A statement by you that you have a good faith belief that the use of the User Content is not authorized by the intellectual property owner, its agent, or the law.

2.5. A statement by you that the information in your notice of infringement is accurate and that you are the intellectual property owner or authorized to act on behalf of the intellectual property owner.

2.6. A physical or electronic signature of you or your authorized representative.

We will respond to your notice of infringement as soon as possible and take appropriate action in accordance with applicable laws and regulations. We may also notify the user who posted or shared the allegedly infringing User Content and give them an opportunity to submit a counter-notice. If we receive a valid counter-notice from the user, we may restore or re-enable access to the User Content unless we receive further notice from you that a legal action has been filed against the user.

3. Repeat infringers

JDI Central has a policy of terminating or suspending the accounts of users who repeatedly infringe the intellectual property rights of others. JDI Central may also terminate or suspend the accounts of users who violate this Policy, its terms and conditions, or any applicable laws or regulations. JDI Central reserves the right to determine what constitutes repeat infringement and what actions are appropriate in each case.

4. Disclaimer

JDI Central does not provide any legal advice or representation regarding intellectual property rights or infringement issues. JDI Central is not responsible for any damages or losses that may result from your use of or reliance on any User Content on or through the Services. You should consult your own legal counsel before taking any action based on this Policy.
